Important information about hypnotherapy

About this information

The information on this website is intended to explain the services offered by Jessie Way Hypnotherapy and to help prospective clients decide whether they would like to arrange an initial conversation. It is not intended to provide medical or psychological advice, diagnosis or emergency support.

Hypnotherapy and healthcare

Hypnotherapy is a complementary therapy and is not a substitute for medical or psychological assessment, diagnosis or treatment. Individual responses vary and no particular outcome can be guaranteed. Where symptoms may require medical or psychological assessment or treatment, clients should seek advice from an appropriately qualified healthcare professional.

Individual experience and outcomes

Hypnotherapy is a collaborative process. The nature and pace of change differ between individuals and may be influenced by the issue being addressed, the client's circumstances, engagement with the process and any agreed between-session work. References on this website to areas in which hypnotherapy may be helpful should not be read as a promise of a particular result.
